HAMPTON IN FALL

HAMPTON IN WINTER

Captured in picture and composition are the memorable events and thoughts of another year—another cycle. Gazing on these pages, which carefully guide us through the seasons of the year, will afford us memorable reminiscences of humorous and sentimental occasions. We will see that each meaningful remembrance is dependent upon the time in which it occurred and that this special time leaves an impression which will endure throughout our lives. Follow us now through the significant times and seasons of Hampton in '63.

HAMPTON IN SPRING

"HAMPTON IS PEOPLE"

"All things have their season, and in their times
all things pass under heaven.
A time to be born and a time to die. A time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted. . . .
A time to weep, and a time to laugh. A time to mourn, and a time to dance. . . .
A time to get, and a time to lose. . . . A time to keep silence, and a time to speak.
A time of love, and a time of hatred. A time of war, and a time of peace. . . ."

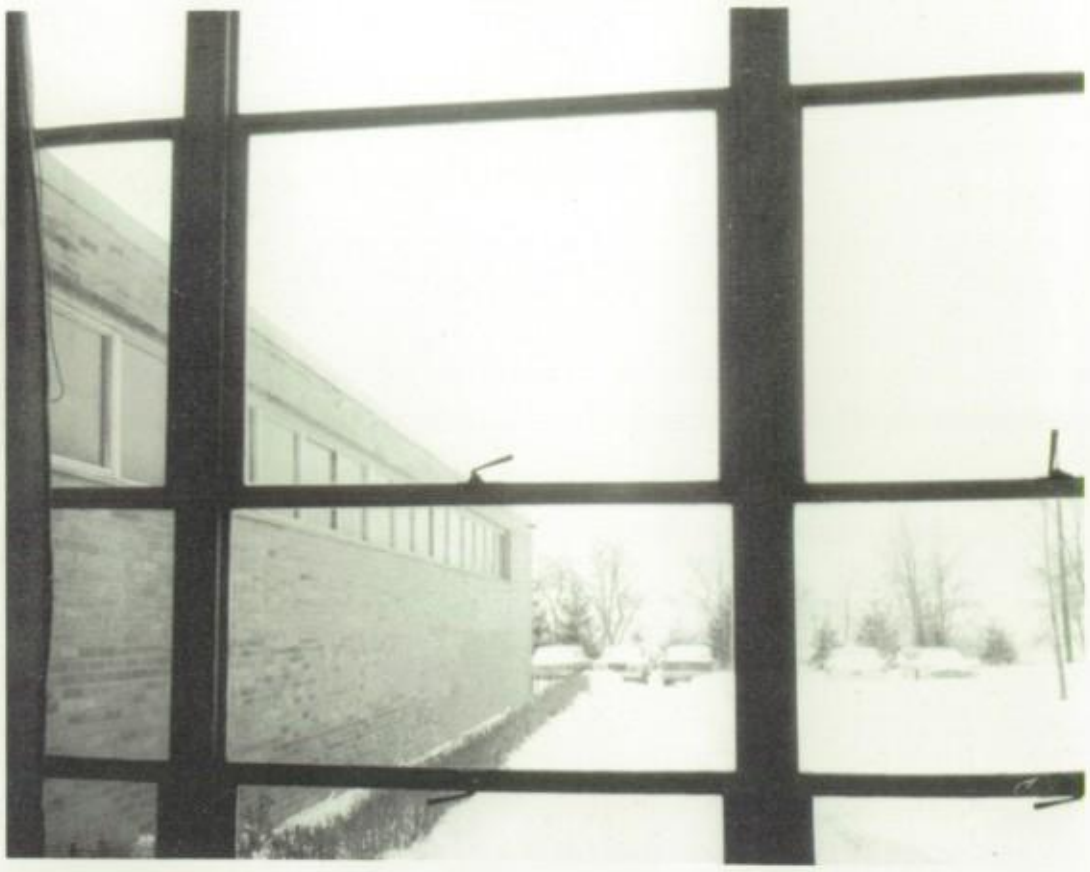
Ecclesiastes 3:1-8

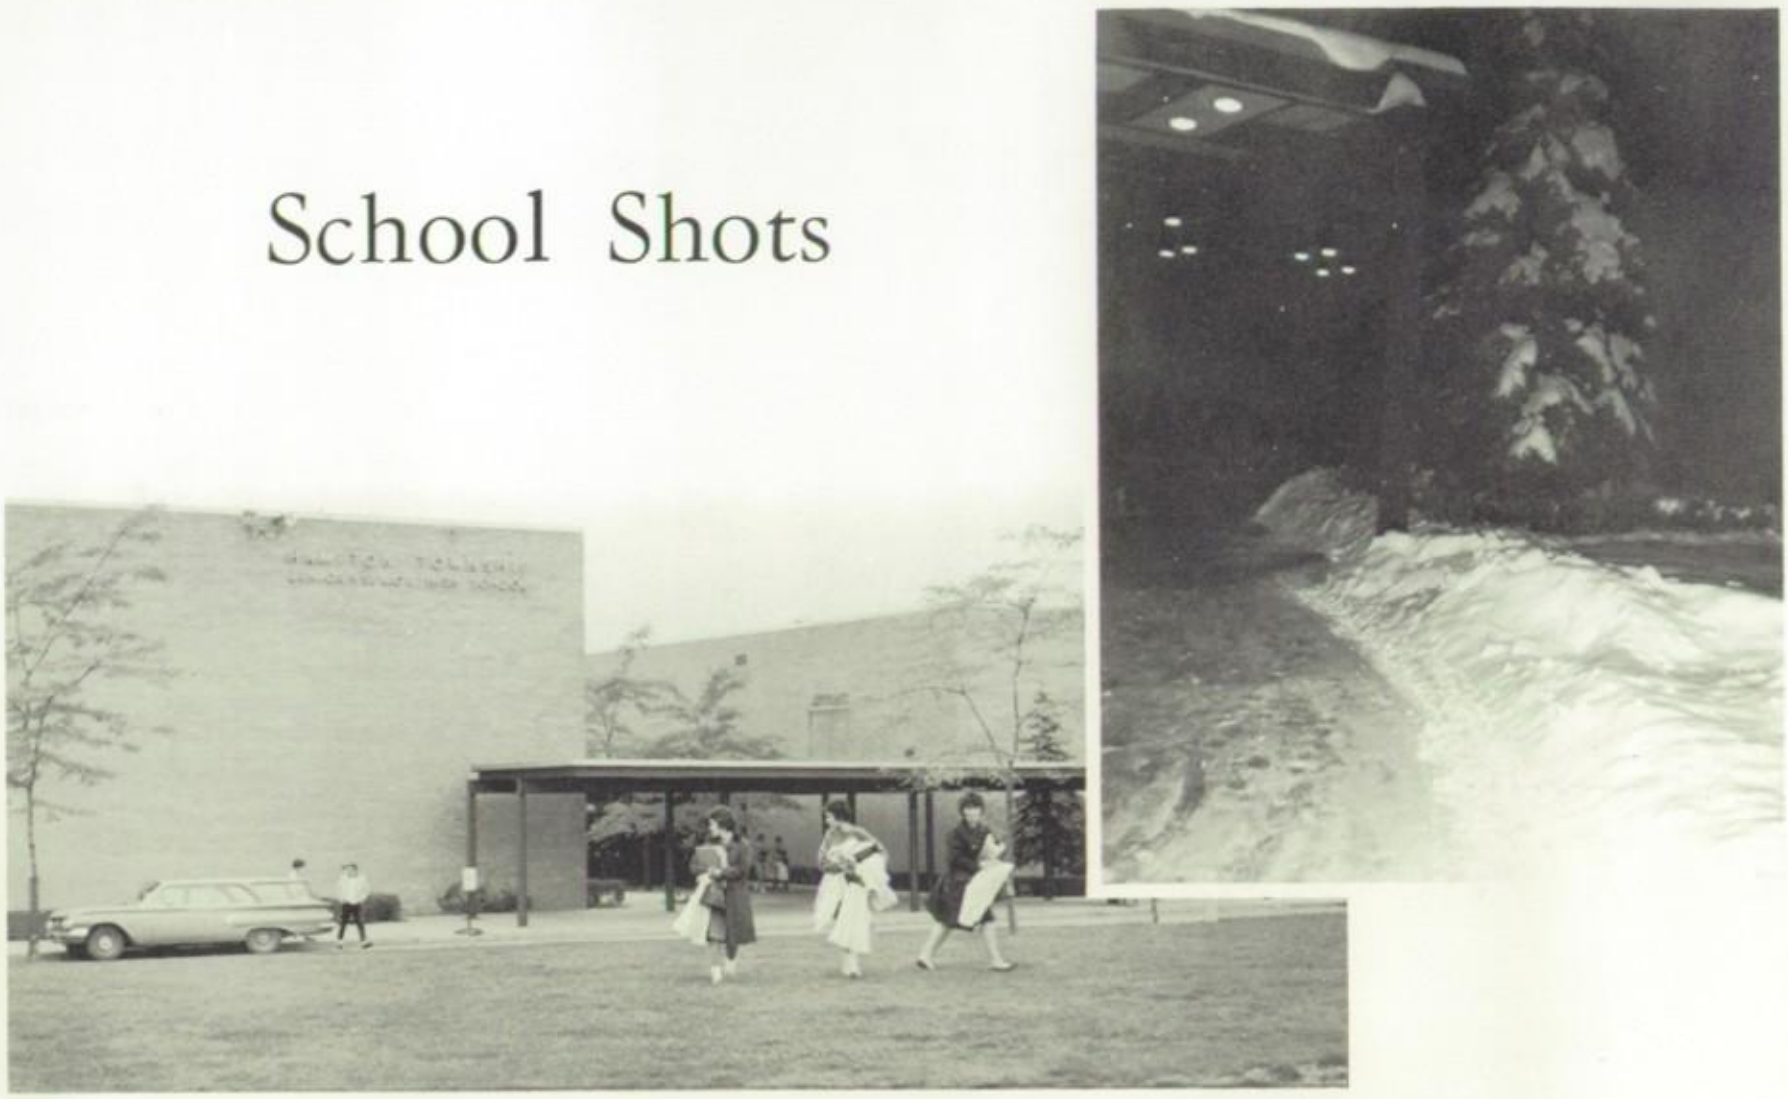


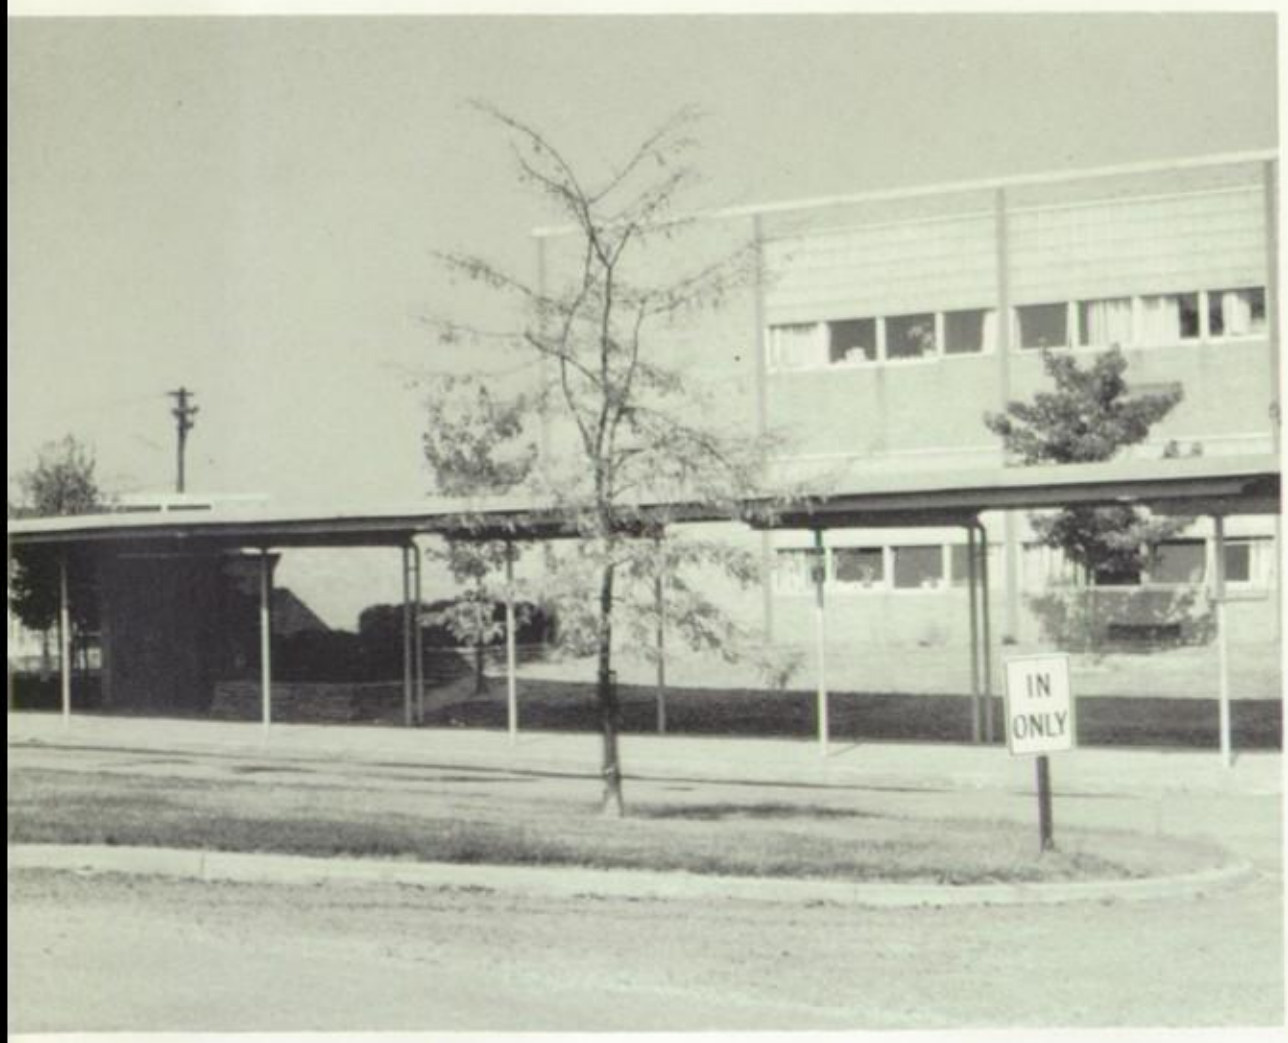
ALMA MATER

Our strong band can ne'er be broken
Formed in Hampton High,
Far surpassing wealth unspoken,
Sealed by friendship's tie.
Alma Mater, Alma Mater,
Deep graven on each heart
Shall be found unwavering true
When we from life shall part.

Memory's leaflets close shall twine
Around our hearts for aye,
And waft us back o'er life's broad track
To pleasures long gone by.
Alma Mater, Alma Mater,
Deep graven on each heart
Shall be found unwavering true
When we from life shall part.

School Shots





HAMPTON

The skies they were ashen and sober;
The leaves they were crispéd and sere . . .
It was night in the lonesome October
Of my most immemorial year.

Edgar Allan Poe, Ulalume

Dedication

Mr. Gregory Spanos

Dedication

Through our last year at Hampton High there has been one dominating figure who has guided us through the hazards of school life. Like a hardy tree, he has stood straight and firm, symbolizing the strength and courage needed to meet the changes of our last seasons. In appreciation for your sincere interest and loyalty toward our Class of 1963, we dedicate this, our 1963 Talbot, to you, Mr. Spanos—our Mr. Hampton.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

SENIOR CLASS

Our senior year culminated the first stage of our lives—preparation. It symbolized the end of much pushing and pulling and pampering. The initiative to work and to accomplish had been delegated to the class. Either we accepted our responsibilities or we failed ourselves. The years of great protection were over, and we understood more fully the attitudes and viewpoints of that enormous outside world.

Throughout the year we were plagued with worries of future plans. Will I be accepted at college? Will I get that scholarship? Will I be able to get a job? Will I even graduate? Not a day went by that these questions were not pondered.

In addition we were anxious over present problems—our class play and the publication of the 1963 Talbot. Will we get enough money? When is our next deadline? Yes, we encountered many difficult situations.

Now as we stand on the threshold of tomorrow, reminiscing the past twelve years, we realize how valuable the experiences are to us. These twelve years represent two-thirds of our present lives; as the equation lessens, the memories will grow more dear, the associations more meaningful. The Senior Class reluctantly whispers, "Good-by, Alma Mater."

In Recognition Of

Nancy Jean Hatch

A very outstanding student of the Class of 1963, Miss Nancy Jean Hatch possessed the initiative and intelligence which enabled her to enter college at the close of her junior year. She is now attending Chicago University where she is bringing much credit to Hampton High School and its students. The Class of 1963 proudly salutes you, Nancy Jean!

"The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night."

—Longfellow, The Ladder of St. Augustine

FOOTBALL

Football season is an invigorating time, when Hampton fans sing and cheer in the brisk autumn weather for their team—the boys in blue and gold. Coached by Mr. Walter Fridley and his assistants, Mr. Lawrence Farmerie and Mr. Herman Joy, this year's football team had a rather disheartening season with only two wins and seven losses. However, one must realize it takes more than a victorious season to make a good football player. A good football player has a real desire to win, the athletic ability to play, the mental ability to accept defeat as well as victory, and a conscience that can say, "I tried my best." If we were all these things, we had a successful season.

Marching Band

Sharp and precise movements gave the marching band a very professional appearance. Although such accuracy required hours upon hours of practice, the students were well rewarded by the praiseworthy comments of friends and relatives.

Much of the credit for these excellent halftime shows belongs to the band director, Mr. Charles Tea, who provided the incentive and will to strive for perfection and arranged many of the intricate patterns. To Mr. Tea and the marching band, the senior class is grateful for helping to make our last year a memorable one.

Cheerleaders

Our cheerleaders comprised one of the most active and industrious groups in Hampton's curriculum. These girls were busy throughout the year either cheering our teams or practicing for the games. The skill and precision which marked their frequent appearances at games and pep rallies also characterized their performance in the classroom, for they maintained high academic standing.

In addition to practicing established cheers, the squad, under the able leadership of Mrs. Nancy Michaels, found time to create and perfect new cheers. We as a student body lauded the excellence and acknowledged the versatility of these leaders.

Majorettes

Football halftimes would not have been complete without Hampton's high-stepping majorettes. These girls complemented the band with their outstanding twirling ability, and they helped to increase our school's prestige among the neighboring districts.

Under the direction of Miss Grace Holland, the majorettes created new routines and patterns for the season. The success of their original ideas illustrates the group's great initiative and creativity. We students of Hampton were justly proud of the capable young women who represented us in this activity.

HAMPTON

And as the birds lighting upon the earth, he scattereth snow, and the falling thereof is as the coming down of locusts. The eye admireth at the beauty of the whiteness thereof, and the heart is astonished at the shower thereof. He shall pour frost as salt upon the earth: and when it freezeth, it shall become like the tops of thistles.

Basketball

Basketball was the distinctive sport of our winter season. While the wind and weather raged outside, our team raged inside producing some great plays under the coaching of Mr. Robert S. Craig. Encouraged by splendid team work, Jack Schmidt, a tournament all-star and hook-shot specialist, broke the school record for individual points scored in one game, previously held by Red Mack and Al Schwartz. The great effort shown by the team, consisting of several great sophomores, some outstanding juniors, and five "never-say-die" seniors, cannot be overlooked. Among the highlights of this year's season were a third place trophy won at the Mars Tournament and several fast-moving games.

JACK SCHMIDT

In every class there is one athletic person who captures the admiration and praise of all. Jack Schmidt, a member of our class, was the star performer of our basketball team. Beginning in seventh grade, Jack trained diligently for basketball and rapidly climbed the ladder of success. He lettered in both his junior and senior years and was chosen for the all-star team at the Mars Invitational Tournament. He went on to break the school's scoring record for one game twice in succession. By the end of the season Jack had set a new record at Hampton for the total points scored during one season. Many years will pass before Hampton students forget the image of Number 11 on the basketball court.

The shot that broke the record.

Just a little higher, Jeff!

Grant, you know you're not allowed to do that!

Dale Schwartz sinks another one!

Wrestling

Coach Mr. Koslick

Begun last year under the leadership of Mr. William Koslick, wrestling is a very young sport at Hampton and this year has continued to grow. Participating in this highly competitive sport were boys of great individual ability and skill. Since wrestling does not depend upon teamwork for its success, each fellow was solely responsible for his actions. This type of sport allowed much room for success or failure. As the sport grows older here at Hampton, it will surely expand in popularity and status.

The presentation of "The Jury Room" brought to light much latent talent and spirit in our senior class. The casting showed superb discernment, and each person played his role as if he had been born into it. Such true-to-life acting made the play hysterically funny to all. We are very proud that our class presented such a fine comedy in spite of the treacherous weather and rather small audiences encountered.

Mrs. Morrison

As members of the National Honor Society, students are distinguished for their scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Because of these criteria the organization ranks among the most highly respected in Hampton's curriculum. Students are very elated to be chosen as one of its participants.

Purposes of the association include recognition of outstanding students and encouragement of the desire to attain high scholastic standing. Under the direction of Mrs. Martha Wright, the society engaged in various activities to fulfill its goals and will long retain its high stature at Hampton High School.

Student Council

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS
President, B. Stewart; Vice-President, R. Austen; Secretary, G. Wolfe; Advisor, Mr. Hunt.

Student Council serves as a legislative organization for Hampton students. The council functions through committees headed by student chairmen. Aside from the expected duties of setting up dance dates, being responsible for morning announcements, planning and arranging sport and social activities, approving the formation of new clubs, and managing the direction of student traffic through the halls, Student Council engages in numerous activities behind the scenes. Among these are the purchase of equipment for the pleasure and needs of students, the operation of a lost and found department, the running of a book and candy store, and the appropriation of funds to needy associations within the school.

Yes, Student Council is very busy and active. However, the organization feels that in future years with a little more student support and cooperation, it will be able to provide even more services and will be of greater aid.

Key Club

Promoting friendly relationships between school and community, the Key Club is a traditional service organization of Hampton High School. Under the guidance of Mr. John McIsaac, the members engaged in numerous activities and projects this past year. The boys ushered at assembly programs, checked coats at extracurricular events, supplied students with various school supplies, and aided at many sport gatherings. In addition, the club sponsored a car wash, held a dance, and sent representatives to the Seventeenth Annual Key Club Convention in Harrisburg. The Key Club has shown itself to be one of the more aggressive clubs in our curriculum. All of the activities were largely responsible for the club's attainment of its higher goal—the encouragement of initiative and leadership among the fellows. As a result of its fine services and aids, the Key Club has become a vital part of Hampton's program, and it has provided the school with sundry reasons to be grateful for its existence.

Varsity Club

Consisting of the lettermen which Hampton teams have produced, the Varsity Club maintains its high stature in Hampton activities. Through their excellent performances, these boys were responsible for the promotion of the school's interest in sports. Throughout the school term members sold programs at all varsity sports events, and held an athletic banquet to raise money for the purchase of varsity jackets for the present worthy seniors. The purpose of the Varsity Club is to create a fraternity exclusively for the qualified players in order to strengthen the ties among members of all athletic teams.

C. Stockfish, G. Rigg, M. McKown

The Pep Club, a new organization at Hampton, was composed of energetic Hamptonites, eager to promote school spirit throughout our sports program. By posting signs in the cafeteria and on bulletin boards, the members provided the athletic teams with incentive and the students with spirit. Their strong initiative and vast work were greatly appreciated by the student body.

History Club

Students of the History Club became acquainted with the current world leaders and attempted to gain an insight into the underlying problems and aspirations of each man. The sessions proved enlightening and interesting in many aspects as fascinating facts and figures came to light in bi-weekly reports. Mr. Gregory Spanos, the club sponsor, supplemented these discussions with additional comments. By the end of the year, all members had acquired sufficient introductory knowledge of the events and people of our ever-changing world to understand some of the causes of future occurrences—a major goal of the organization.

Junior High Geography Club

The geography of the land is a fascinating subject—so the Hampton geographers discovered early in the year. Through short excursions the club learned of various area rock formations and prominent industries. To finance their activities the members sold Christmas candy. Mrs. Hazel Hanchett, the organization's sponsor, promoted the club's program successfully and deserves much credit for the significant knowledge acquired by the members.

Our school newspaper, the Hamptonian, informed the student body of many details of Hampton life which otherwise might not have been exposed. From the paper we learned about the success of various activities, the current fads and fashions, and the views and opinions of many students and teachers on particular issues. Many of the points discussed put fun and laughter into our everyday lives.

The editors, under the guidance of Mrs. Eisengart and Miss McGee, worked hard to make our Hamptonian an honorable paper. It is clearly noted that their efforts were not in vain and that Hampton's voice has matured extensively this past year.

Hampton students were given the opportunity to broaden their scope of the literary world by participating in the Reading Club. This organization functioned as a small library. The active members enjoyed the books immensely and were grateful for the chance to read such inspiring works.

Very much interested in the World United Nations and its goals, a group of Hampton students formed a Student United Nations Society last fall.

The new organization, combined with the Student United Nations of Pittsburgh, participated in a mock United Nations Assembly, patterned closely after the United Nations meetings held in New York City. Sharing in this activity was a thrilling experience. As resolutions were presented and debates developed, we recognized the enormous problems that our world leaders face. It was no easy matter to find acceptable solutions to prominent disagreements.

At the end of the year, it was certain that the SUNS had become a strong part of Hampton's curriculum and would remain as long as the World United Nations continues in its vital capacity in our modern world.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA OFFICERS
K. Hardt, J. Mason, N. Pings, G. Stefanides

The Future Teachers of America, comprised of students having a mutual interest in the teaching profession, is a great asset to Hampton's guidance program. The dual purpose of the association is to further the interest of students in teaching and to provide them with information and practice in the field, that they might decide here in high school if this noble profession should be their own. To further these aims the club, under the direction of Mr. Robert Varnum, embarked on various activities, such as a tea for visiting student teachers, a spring dance, and the annual journey to Indiana State College.

In the spring, representatives were sent to Pennsylvania State University to participate in annual conferences. The girls returned with many new ideas for the club to utilize in the coming year.

Hampton's business students are represented in extra-curricular activities through the Future Business Leaders of America. Here business students gather to talk over secretarial problems and to exchange ideas. Activities sponsored by the association this past year included the Buzz Book, the Winter Wonderland Ball, and the High Hoopers. Under the leadership of Mrs. Hoffman, the club had a very successful term.

The main objective of the Nurses Club is to cultivate among students an interest in nursing as a career and to render its services to the welfare of the community. Club members visited St. John's Convalescent Home every Saturday to lend their assistance to the patients. Writing letters, filling water pitchers, and entertaining the patients were a few of these services.

Senior High Chorus

In recent years Hampton's Senior High Chorus has established a reputation as one of the outstanding choral groups in our area. The credit for this distinction belongs to the choral director, Mr. Robert Sadler. Under his guidance the students work toward the little things that make the difference between good and excellent.

As a special event the chorus sponsored a musical clinic in March. Here several area school choruses performed before music experts. After the program the judges expressed their opinions and offered helpful suggestions to each director. The clinic was a great success, and each chorus went home better and wiser for having participated.

Junior High Chorus

Mr. Sadler

The goal of Junior High Chorus was to prepare its members for further singing in Senior High. Mr. Robert Sadler, director, often drilled the young musicians in tone syllables and techniques. To build confidence, he then allowed the students to challenge one another for the honor of obtaining a higher sitting position. The rivalry added spice and enjoyment to the practice sessions.

All of the perfected techniques were put to work in the chorus's participation in school concerts. The outstanding accomplishments of the chorus pointed to high expectations of an excellent Senior High Chorus of the future.

Mr. Tea

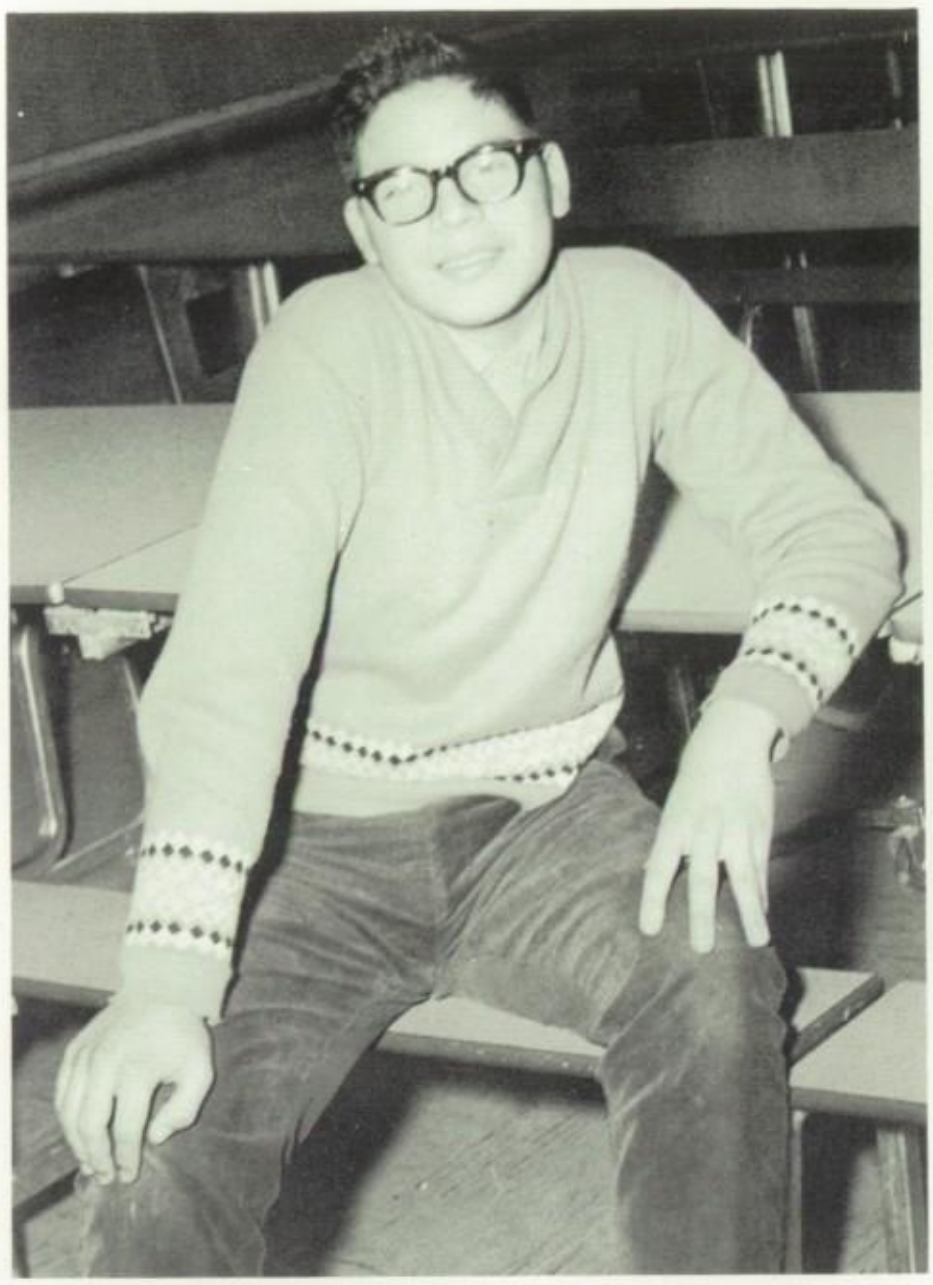
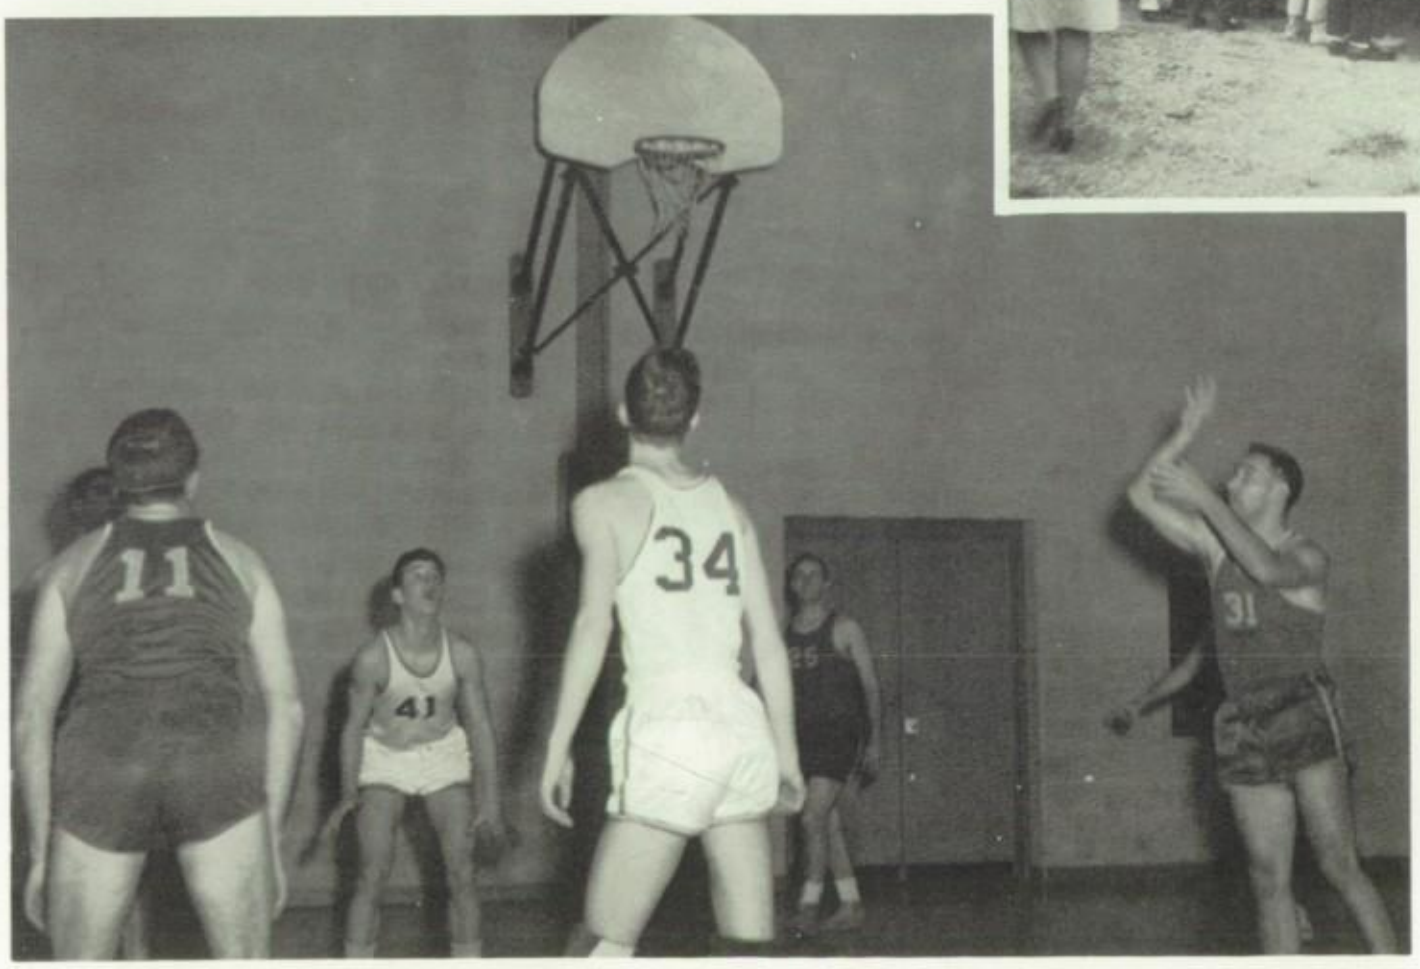
Concert Band occupies a very stable position in Hampton's music department. Through its Spring Concert and other programs the organization brought great musical scores of prominent composers to the ears of area residents. The Band helped greatly to further the culture of Hampton Township.

Honored through representation at Honors Band, Shaler Invitational and District Band, our band accrued added prestige for our school.

People



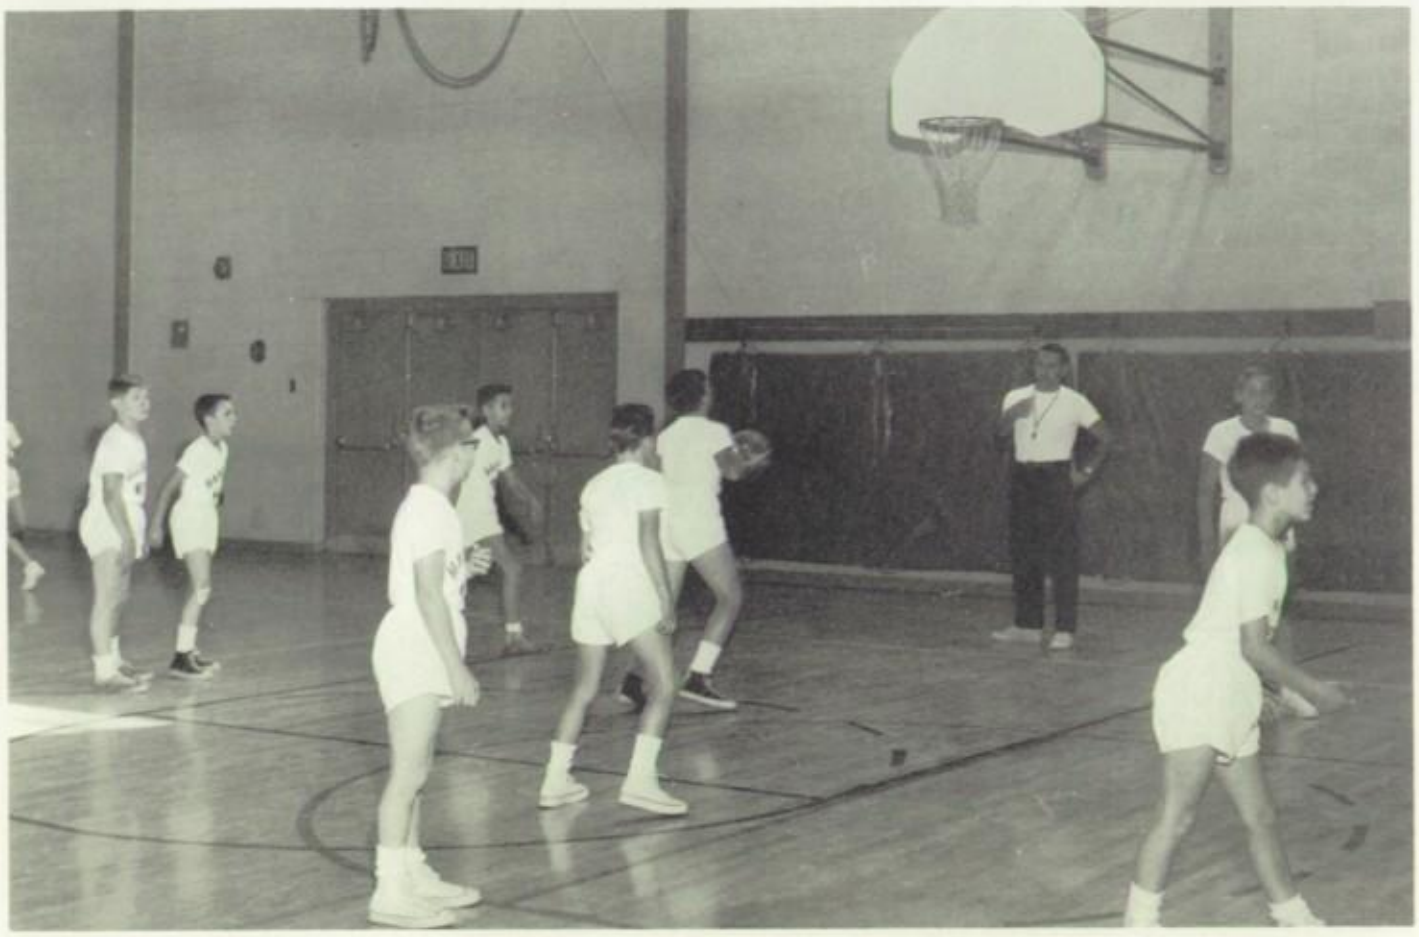


And Places

Girls' Intramurals

Girls' Intramurals

Girls' Intramurals imparted to senior high girls the good fortune to display their individual skills and to produce the favorable human quality of good sportsmanship. Under the guidance of Mrs. Nancy Michaels, the program included Indian ball, volley ball, and basketball. This variety allowed everyone to excel in some phase of sports and led to the further development of essential team work.



Boys' Intramurals

To encourage the spirit of sportsmanship and friendly rivalry and to supplement varsity sports and the boys' gym activities, a boys' intramural program has been adopted at Hampton. Although it operated on a limited basis during this, its first year, the intramural program, under the direction of Mr. Hohman, promises to grow rapidly in the coming years.

Dr. Samuel Johnson

IS PEOPLE

Mr. Sarver

Although Mr. Sarver has served as supervising principal for twenty-eight years, his interest in the Hampton school system and student body remains as enthusiastic as it was when he first acquired this position. With all of his responsibilities, he is never too busy to give a cheerful word of helpful advice to the students of Hampton.

His unending devotion to our school has been apparent through the ever-progressing educational program of the Hampton Township School District.

Mr. Darrah

As top administrator of our high school, Mr. Charles Darrah played a vital role in our school life. It was he who designed much of our academic curriculum and was basically responsible for the smooth running of our school. His job was vast and required a great amount of interest and energy. Our Class of 1963 wishes to thank Mr. Darrah for his guidance and keen attention throughout our years at Hampton High.

Mr. Bernabei

Mr. Bernabei rates as a highly respected administrator of Hampton High. His pleasant disposition, coupled with his strong feeling of responsibility for the well-being of Hampton students, demanded the respect of every Hampton student. We wish to thank him for his careful guidance and helpfulness during our final years at Hampton.

School Board

The ultimate responsibility for Hampton Township Schools lies with the School Board; it is they who must foresee Hampton's future problems and plan for them now, as well as cope with difficulties which were not anticipated. These men and women perform enormous services for which there is no material compensation. We as seniors feel fortunate to have had such a dedicated group of individuals provide us with the best educational foundation possible.

PRESIDENT
Mr. Howard Hunter

Secretaries

Visitors to Hampton High are given their first glimpse of our school when they are met by our office receptionists. For this reason it is essential that these secretaries be cheerful and congenial at all times. They reveal the atmosphere and attitude of our entire school system. We are fortunate to have at our service very competent secretaries. Smiling under pressures and anxieties, our secretaries set a striking example for all. To them we say "Thank you" for a job well done and "Thanks for putting up with us."

Guidance

G. Rigg, B. Henry, Mr. Hohman.

For the past few years, Hampton's guidance department has been under the capable direction of Miss Czuba, Mr. Hohman, and Mr. Bernabei. The interest, understanding, and willingness of these people to help the students at Hampton are greatly appreciated. Through personal interviews beginning in the junior high school, these people acquire knowledge of each individual's interests and abilities, enabling them to guide the student to the appropriate college or job opportunity.

Cafeteria

Spring, summer, winter or fall—regardless of season, our cafeteria staff, under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Bears, has daily prepared well-balanced and nourishing meals for the student body and faculty of Hampton.

During National Cafeteria Week, our cooks prepared with extensive care as a change of pace "surprise" lunches. These delectable dishes added color and enjoyment to our midday intermissions.

Janitors

The job of our janitors is a never-ending one. Some arrive in the wee hours of the morning to open our school for our administration and students, and others are nocturnal creatures who "pick up the pieces" after we have gone. To those who perform so many often thankless jobs, we extend our gratitude.

JUNIOR CLASS

As juniors we plowed through many trying experiences this past year. Never had we been burdened with so much labor. The bulk of Hampton's accelerated academic program fell on us, and in addition we shouldered the responsibility of the Twirp Dance and Junior-Senior Prom. There was so much to do and so little time in which to do it. Often we thought we could not possibly live through those nine months.

Nevertheless, the days flew by, and before we knew what was happening, June twelfth arrived, and eleventh grade was over. We felt rather void inside at first, but then we peered over the next horizon and caught a glimpse of our senior year. Suddenly we knew that what had just passed was only an inkling of what lay ahead in that final medley of seasons.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS
A. Beck, K. Kelly, L. Schaltenbrand.

So many decisions confronted us as sophomores that at the beginning we were completely baffled. What study course should I follow? What electives do I want? What activities interest me? All these questions had to be answered and in the short time span of a few days. Our heads spun those first few weeks.

Gradually, however, everything fell into place, and our eyes opened wide to encompass a wholly new world—a preparation ground for the more complex world to come and all its trials and errors.

FRESHMEN CLASS OFFICERS
B. Goode, J. Jacesko, F. Faull, M. Blaser.

Our ninth year was neither so easy nor so satisfying as we had visioned a year before. Trying to guide underclassmen produced unforeseen problems, and often our attempts were thwarted. As ninth graders we experienced only a fraction of the great importance of which we had so longingly dreamed.

Nonetheless we stood on the top of the ladder and theoretically reigned. We greeted Move-Up Day both joyously and sadly. It would be grand to be a part of senior high school, but we very reluctantly relinquished the throne to our successors.

EIGHTH GRADE CLASS OFFICERS

Ah, that treacherous first year was a thing of the past, and we eighth graders captured the marvelous opportunity to settle down and really become a part of Hampton, now a very friendly institution. New and exciting activities appeared for everyone, and these were enthusiastically grasped as a firmer bond with our alma mater. We developed the art of maintaining high academic standing and generally adapted ourselves to the tempo of life in Hampton High School.

At the close of the school year, we were prepared and eager to take that next step along the road of higher education—becoming the leaders of the junior high. The title reflected so much dignity and honor that we eagerly anticipated the year ahead.

SEVENTH GRADE

That first day in high school was little short of terror for us as seventh graders as the massive school loomed before us. We fledglings feared that perhaps we would not like high school or we would not be able to cope with its complexities. These thoughts were the cause of much anxiety and worry, and mixed emotions preceded our initiation into higher learning.

We soon discovered, however, that we had little to fear and much to learn from those who greeted us. Under the careful guidance of teachers and upperclassmen, we survived the embarrassing moments and the commencement of a new scholastic life. By the end of the year, we held a secure position in Hampton High, and we were recognized as the future leaders of our school.

Each morning and evening seniors crowded this hall in busy activity. It was bright and lively, secreting gaiety and laughter. Now this hall, so familiar to all of us, stands dark and desolate. Never again will our voices ring out here in joy or despair. Never again will we whisper here those so important secrets. Memories are all that now remain—memories that will echo and reecho through these lonely walls. As the hall has changed in the span of a few days, so the year has changed in a few seasons, and so the class of 1963 has changed in a few years.

Autumn to winter, winter into spring,
Spring into summer, summer into fall.
So rolls the changing year, and so we change;
Motion so swift, we know not that we move.
